

Relaxed Performance of Spider's Web

About Spider's Web

Spider's Web is Agatha Christie's second most popular and long-running comedy thriller. This entertaining mystery features a lively young woman whose imagination can sometimes get away from her, and who finds a real dead body. Who is he? Where did he come from? What will she do with the body left on her property? Our heroine, Clarissa, must manage her foreign-diplomat husband, her stepdaughter and her suspicious guardian – not to mention a sharp-minded policeman. Can she stay sane amongst the chaos or will her imagination get the best of her? With secret panels, a mysterious caller, and a priceless object – all strange ingredients in this fun and entertaining family-friendly show – Spider's Web is reminiscent of 'Midsummer Murders'. Bringing back some RCTC fan favourites, you will see Michael and Jackie Charrois returning for this classic Hallowe'en comedy.

About Relaxed Performance

Sometimes the elements of live performance and the expectations around audience behaviour prevent us from going to the theatre. This performance welcomes everyone, including people with additional support needs plus their families, friends, teachers or guardians. Adjustments are made to the show itself and regular theatre etiquette is relaxed.

What to expect:

- The cast will come on stage before the performance to explain what's about to happen
- Sound and lighting cues will be less startling or intense
- Strobe lighting and pyrotechnics will not be used and some special effects will be changed
- The doors to the theatre will be left open so you're free to come and go
- The lights in the theatre will be left on
- You can make noise, move around, and even use 'fidget devices' (phones, iPads, etc) in the theatre
- There will be a 'quiet place' for audience members to chill in case it's needed

The Anvil Centre has accessible parking, washrooms and an elevator.

This performance is offered in partnership with the Anvil Centre.

The relaxed performance is offered at a for two-for-one ticket price.
